Also on December 8, Romulus Recreation chose gingerbread houses as the Christmas craft for the children. 12 children participated in making their own gingerbread house to take to their families. Parents were present to lend a hand in the event and also one grandfather who enjoyed himself very much.

Participants will also be encouraged to bring along signs, banners and flags as well as hats, mittens, gloves, scarves and socks for distribution to needy Romulus area families.

NEWS FROM THE CITY OF WAYNE

They drank! They drove and they lost!

Police arrest 15 for driving under the influence of alcohol

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Fifteen and still counting.

That's the number of drivers that Wayne Traffic Patrol officers arrested and hauled before the 29th District judge after drivers were stopped, checked, and were suspected of driving under the influence of an alcoholic beverage.

"Most of these drivers were from out of town," said Lt. Tom Miller, of the Wayne Police Department, "but we also had a few residents in that group of 15. They posted their bails and were given court appearance dates by the judge."

Participating in a state-wide campaign to take drunk drivers off the roads during the holidays, Wayne had enhanced their patrols for the Christmas, as well as New Year's holidays. Wayne took part in the "You drink. You Drive. You Lose" program, which was sponsored by the Michigan State Police.

The number of drivers arrested during the extended New Year's holidays was not available at press time.

If convicted of driving while under the influence, a judge can sentence the driver up to 90 days in jail for a first offense and up to a year for a second-time offender. The convicted drunk driver may also face a $500 fine and/or a jail sentence and also could be ordered to attend a course on the consequences of driving under the influence. The course provides photos with graphic details of fatal accidents involving drunk drivers.

Police Chief Mike Sumeracki said that the department has zero-tolerance for those who drink and get behind the wheel of a car and drive.

"It's no secret that drunk drivers can kill," Sumeracki said. "It is unfortunate that they don't have the sense to allow someone else to drive. I don't think that there is anyone who doesn't know of a case where a driver has had too much to drink, gotten behind the wheel, and killed someone we loved. We can't stress enough the significance of drinking and driving. We will do everything we can to get these people off the roads before they kill themselves or someone else."

"If they haven't gotten the message, you can bet our officers have been told to arrest them and lock them up so that they don't hurt anyone."

Despite the efforts of such organizations as MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) and SADD (Students Against Drunk Drivers), there are some who continue to abuse their driving privileges.

But law enforcement officers in Wayne caution that if you do drink and drive in the city you will be arrested and charged.

As in the case of the infamous 15: They drank. They drove. And they lost.

Make sure you're not one of them during the holidays or any other day.

Calling all Wayne High alumni

If you know a Wayne High alumnus who you believe deserves recognition for their achievements, Wayne Memorial officials would like to hear from you.

Each year Wayne Memorial honors one of its finest with a "Distinguished Alumni Award", and school officials are inviting readers to submit the names and qualifications of eligible candidates.

The prestigious award has become a part of the annual Wayne Memorial High School Commencement Exercises, according to Principal Donald E. Chastain.

"This is an opportunity for our recent alumni, those involved in the commencement, to hear first-hand from a former alumnus who has made their mark on society," Chastain said.

Wayne Memorial is asking the community to help in its search to find the 2002 recipient.

The award recipient will be honored at commencement on June 8, 2002. Those wishing to nominate a graduate or graduates may contact Mary Huber, secretary at Wayne Memorial High School. Huber may be reached by telephone at 734-595-2206.

Residents may also submit candidates' names by mail. Please include why you feel the candidate is deserving of the honor. Mail information to Wayne Memorial High School, 3001 Fourth Street, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Local students earn degrees

Eleven local and area college students were among the 233 students who received bachelor's, associate's and Executive MBA degrees from Cleary College, according to college officials.

Among those who participated in the December 8 commencement exercises and were awarded diplomas at Cleary College are Michelle Marie Loskowski of Wayne, Inkster's Cary Anthony Radowski, and Romulus resident Karen Hougaboom.

The City of Belleville, was well-represented in the graduating class. Eight residents were among the graduates. They include: Michelle Osborne, Tricia Lynn Montgomery, Markitta Lewis, Debra Lynn Szveda, Michelle Ford, Amy Elizabeth Arudt, Nicholas Kopsolias, Jr., and Suzanne Revord.

Of the 233 graduating seniors, there were 160 who were recognized for their scholastic excellence.

According to Cleary President Thomas Sullivan, the high number of honor graduates reflects the determination of the school's students to excel.

"Because they are mostly working adults with families, Cleary graduates make many sacrifices pursuing their degrees," Sullivan said. "Those sacrifices and their strong drive to succeed make them powerfully focused on attaining the highest standards of excellence in education and their careers."

Cleary College is a regionally accredited, not-for-profit, private business college, committed to exceeding the expectations of its students and the business community.

City announces winners of 2001 'Suggestion Award'

Twenty-two City of Wayne employees came up with suggestions last year that saved taxpayers' money and earned the employees recognition by the city and their fellow employees. The employees, including the Grand Award Winner, Susan Sweet-McMahan, were honored at a recent city council meeting by Mayor Al Haidous and members of the city council.

Sweet-McMahan serves in the Community Development Department.

Those whose suggestions earned awards (and the departments they are assigned) included: Laura Areeda (City Clerk's Office), William Cariveau (Meter Department), Kim Cochran (Community Development), Patricia Ditmore (DPW), Thomas Dunn (Meter Division), Pauline Fanslow (Senior Center) and Susan Honke (Recreation).

Other award recipients are: Lucille Jewell (Recreation), Sandra Kirby (Building), Cathy Lutkenhoff (Fire Department), Aaron Masters (Recreation Department) and Ronald McClue (Meter Division).

Other recognized for their suggestions include: Leo McGue (Senior Center), Linda Miller (Meter Division), Patrick Ostrosky (Building), Constance Powers (Recreation Department), Lucy Sanborn (Senior Center), Carrie Shelton (City Clerk Department), William Wagner (Recreation Department), Bonita Wojewski (Senior Center) and Bonita Wojewski (Senior Center) and Nancy Wojewski (Senior Center).

Auditions for murder mystery

The Wayne Parks and Recreation and Stage IV invites budding actors to audition for parts for the third annual murder mystery called "Who's Dying To Be A Millionaire".

Directed by guest artist Deena Baty, the play will be staged two days, Mon., Jan. 7, and Tues., Jan. 8, at the Wayne Public Library.

There are openings for 14 to 20 actors and actresses, between the ages of 18 and 100. No singing or dancing skills are required, and prospective cast members are requested to come ready to read their parts.

For further information, please call Tracy at 734-721-7400.

Also, the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department is holding auditions for "Barry J. and Lucy May's Shotgun Wedding."

An original Dinner Theater production, the comedy will be staged on Jan. 14, and Jan. 15 at the Wayne Community Center. There are parts available for 17 actors. Also call Tracy at 734-721-7400.

Americans have liberties that extend beyond rights of foreign-

Most Arab-Americans I know are great people. Ditto the few Muslims I count as friends. I marvel at their ability to do business, and I respect their strong Islamic beliefs. As a whole they will anything to help friends and family- their loyalty is limitless.

Arab-Americans by the thousands, call Western Wayne home. Dearborn has the largest Arab-American population in the United States. The City of Wayne elected local businessman Al Haidous to their top post- Mayor. He is believed to be the first Arab-American elected Mayor in Michigan.

Law enforcement authorities have taken a great deal of heat for what some consider "profiling." Our American laws, some would say, protect each and every one of us, equally and it is not right for the government or police to arrest or interrogate people because they are Arabic or Muslim.

But in my way of thinking the key component or word in this whole equation is American. We all should vehemently protest against the profiling of Americans, but in most cases recently, the detainees are not American citizens.

For instance the Muslim leader who was recently detained in Ann Arbor, was living with his family in that city with an expired visa. A substantial backlash occurred over this prominent Muslim's detention, including appeals from his wife on television.

This supposedly innocent, Ann Arbor do-gooder, who just happened to be too busy to get his visa renewed, however, is not an American citizen. He has, however, been in and out of the United States for the last 20 years. His occupation during that time-founder and president of a fundraising group that is suspected of sending millions of dollars to the Taliban and Al Queda network.

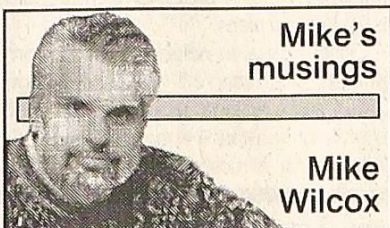

I'm sorry but I can't feel sorry for this guy. Nor do I think he should be afforded the freedoms that American citizens have. He chose his occupation. He chose not to become a citizen. Now he is detained, and if he contributed one penny to Bin Laden or Mullah Omar, I hope they throw the book at him.

Approximately 300 Dearborn and 80 Ann Arbor Muslim students or aliens were asked to voluntarily talk with law enforcement officials in an effort to find connections with terrorist activities. Again, the "profiling" accusations flew as prolifically as fish flies on the water in June.

But again, these people are not Americans. They are in our country at our invitation and can be booted at our behest. They, in my opinion, ought to be willing to help us out, or leave. Law enforcement made it clear, there would be no inappropriate questions or behavior. Lawyers were welcome to accompany the invitees.

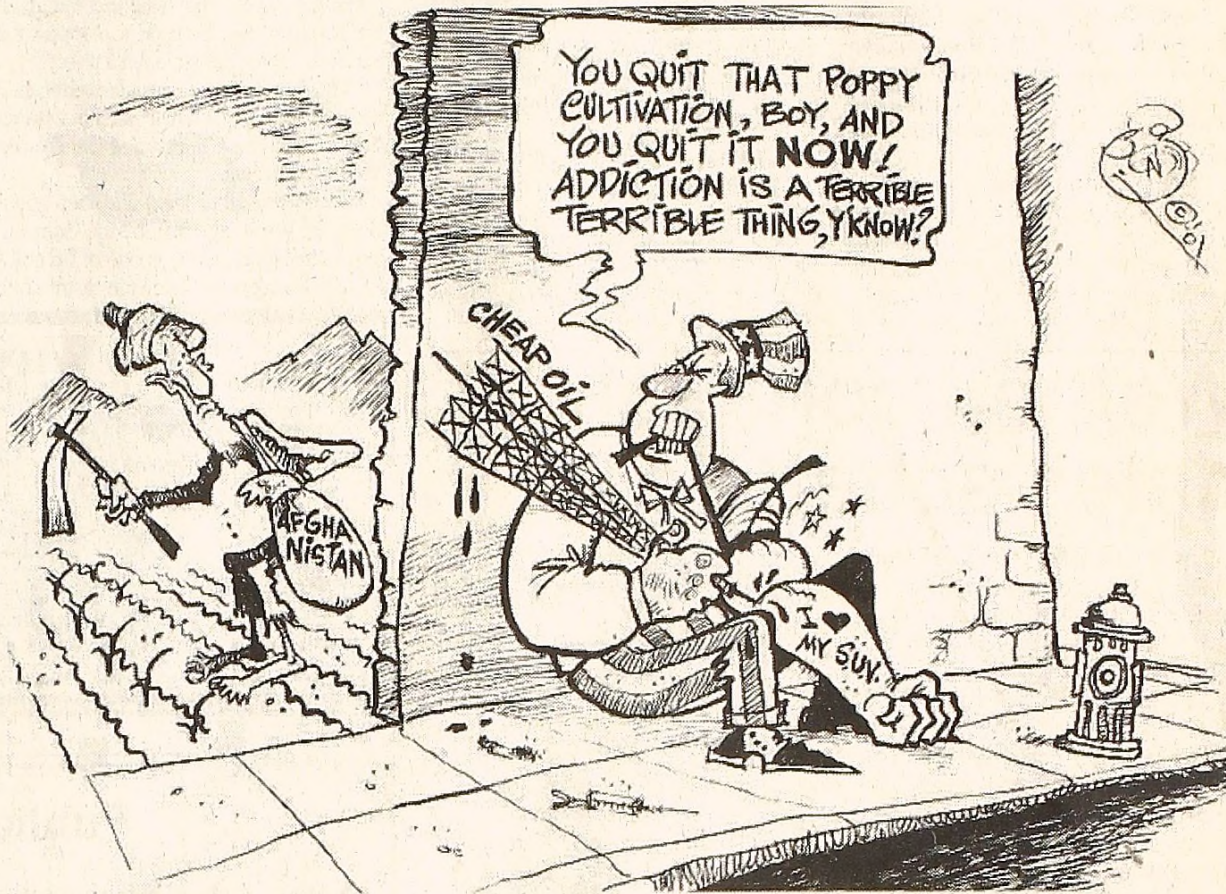

If we are to succeed in the war against terrorism, we cannot extend our individual liberties, that Americans enjoy, to those in this country that hold visas. For too long our country has been lax in keeping track of visa-holders- it was estimated that there are literally thousands of foreigners here on expired visas- and in many instances have no idea where the foreigners are or what they are up to.

It is time to get tough. It is time to enforce our laws. It is time to find those assisting terrorists and punish them to the full extent of the law.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Making Christmas longer

One day and it's all over! From the day after Thanksgiving until Christmas Eve, the race is on to buy things we really don't need and spend money you don't really have - the reality of it all sets in when the charge card bills roll in January, so much for feeling jolly!

My family's Christmas morning started like millions of others did, we got up, washed up and beaded for the Christmas Tree. In 30 minutes it's all over, the gifts are opened and all the pretty paper and ribbons are extended from one end of the living room to the other. Then like most, we all wonder what happened, it really didn't seem like Christmas - it came and went so fast. Of course not, how can anyone enjoy the season when most are running around shopping to buy bigger and better than last year. Try this if you want to make Christmas last a little longer.

It hits me every year, when the weather gets cold. I start to Appreciate the little things that we all take for granted, like family, friends and being "warm." For the past ten years I have made many trips downtown to pass out warm winter gear to the "street people", the sub culture of society that most of us never see up close and only her about on TV. While my wife stayed at home preparing our Christmas dinner, I drove my van loaded with coats, gloves, rubber boots and other items to the area known as the "Cass Corridor"- the strip between Michigan Avenue and Wayne State University.

I parked along side the road, opened my window and began playing Christmas music. In the matter of minutes, the "throw aways of society" started to appear. The young and the old, black and white, nude and female, pimps and prostitutes, wineo's and druggies and the physically, mentally disadvantaged individuals known as the "homeless". Many of these people are Veterans. For what ever reason right, wrong - whatever - this is their bell an earth. Whether personally inflicted or caused by a set of unfortunate, uncontrollable circumstances - this is their home - the "streets".

For two hours I passed out, them items. This was their Christmas, a pair of gloves, coat or boots. The thank you very much I heard and appreciation I saw in these people's eyes, made this trip worth while. Can you imagine being stuck on the streets, no family, no place to go - nobody really cares if you live or die! Most of these people would rather be on the streets than in a shelter whom they get hassled, rolled or molested.

As I drove around the area I thought to myself were there people born homeless, I don't think so - Did these people always live out of a shopping cart? At one time they had to have someone in their life, a mother - father, sister - brother - aunt - uncle, somebody.

If you want to make Christmas last all yew long, give yourself the gift of helping a someone you don't know- it's a great feeling.

Some like it hot

There's no accounting for taste. Like the proverb says, "One man's meat is another man's poison." Or, as I learned after last week's column pining for a white Christmas, one person's Winter Wonderland may be another person's Siberia.

"As far as more snow, you must be out of your mind," said a Sound Off caller.

From the folks who told me they wished they were Christmas vacationing in the Caribbean, I learned there are more than a few beach bums living in Western Wayne County.

But as far as being out of my mind, it seems that winter-lovers are likelier to find nirvana in Michigan than sun-worshippers.

Michigan and cold go together like New Year's Eve and chilled champagne or city employees and free gasoline - perfect matches. And I'm not just talking about the UP, where in the Keewenaw Peninsula I once saw a sign on a tree marking the highest snowfall in America. I'm talking about Western Wayne County, where there are parks, ponds, and hills where you can ski, skate, sled, duel with snowballs, and play bumper cars on slick roads.

But if you're the type of person who shivers at the thought of icicles, what are you doing here? If you're cool with tarantulas, alligators, and coral snakes in your yards, then head for the equator and don't slam your insulated door behind you.

But before you rush, consider the extremely controversial theories of J. Philippe Rushton, professor of psychology at the University of Western Ontario, who speculates that cold is good for the brain.

Equating intelligence with brain size, Rushton said that as prehistoric people moved to north to colder climates, they had to work harder to find food, raise children, and find solid shelter. Brainy northerners and their families survived. Pea-brained ones didn't.

Whereas in tropical climates, life

Vantastic

was less demanding. Wild food grew on trees. Homes didn't have to be sealed and insulated. All you had to do was avoid stepping on poisonous snakes and lizards. Survival was not linked to brain power. So, according to Rushton, gray matter never matters in the tropics; and that, over time, hot weather could devolve your brain and the brains of any of your descendants that inherited your preference for palmetto bugs.

But many people like devolving brains. Some have even invented new ways of devolving them - such as the Whole Language Reading teaching method used in local public schools - that even work in cold climates.

Whole Language Reading devolves many pupils' brains by frustrating their ability to sound out unfamiliar words in our language, whose words are built of sounds. Though English words are made up of syllables with distinctive sounds, the Whole Language Reading teaches kids to recognize English words as pictographs (words made up of pictures) found on Egyptian mummies).

Fortunately, kids aren't fooled. Most figure out how to sound out words on their own. But then they're frustrated by another Whole Language Reading limitation, the small reading vocabulary that can be learned without the ability to sound out words. I don't have the exact figures in front of me, but 21 century students' know a fraction of the words used by 19th century students who were deprived of video games.

Some like to read, some to play Doom, some like it hot, some like it cold, some like it nine days old. There's no accounting for taste.

Let the punishment fit the crime

Last week the Michigan Supreme Court, in a 29-page opinion, handed down the "punishment" for Judge Susan Chrzanowski. The opinion said, "Her actions undermined public confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the judiciary, and were prejudicial to the administration of justice." What were those actions?

The Warren District Court Judge was accused of several "improprieties." She carried on a long-term affair with local attorney Michael Fletcher to whom she assigned an inordinate number of cases and failed to disclose her personal relationship with Fletcher to opposing attorneys.

This alone was a classic case of judicial misconduct placing those appearing before her and their attorneys at a disadvantage.

In August of 1999, Fletcher's 29-year old pregnant wife was murdered in their Oak Park home. Fletcher was a prime suspect. During the murder investigation Chrzanowski lied to police about her affair with Fletcher thus failing to disclose a possible motive for Fletcher to kill his wife.

For an ordinary citizen, this may well have resulted in a felony charge of obstruction of justice. However, the police and County Prosecutor took no action against Chrzanowski. Fletcher was subsequently convicted of first degree murder and is serving a life sentence in prison.

Medium Rare

In July of 2000, Chrzanowski was suspended but with pay. The Supreme Court's ruling decreed a six-month suspension without pay ending on June 30th of this year.

The Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission had recommended a one-year suspension without pay. In cutting that in half, the Court said it took into consideration the "chastening effect" the 17-month suspension with pay had on Judge Chrzanowski.

In summary, the total "punishment" suffered by Judge Chrzanowski, for actions that could have landed her in prison, was a 17-month paid vacation costing the taxpayers over $190,000 and a (slap on the wrist) 6-month suspension without pay. She can return to the bench on July 1 without any further sanctions or restrictions. However, she will have to face the voters in November.

Contrast this case with that of Wayne County Circuit Judge Andrea Ferrara. Ferrara was accused of using a racial slur in a private telephone conversation with her estranged husband (who had tape-recorded the conversation). The other accusations were that she lied (to the public) about it and wrote a letter she tried to pass off in court as a character reference from a third person.

For these heinous acts, Ferrara was removed from the bench.

While this writer does not believe either of the two judges is fit to serve, the lesson to be learned, if any, seems to be the following.

A judge can jeopardize fair trials and lie to the police in a murder investigation and get only a slap on the wrist. However, if a judge tries to deceive the court with a false letter or lies to the public, she gets booted off the court. Then again maybe the (private) racial slur was considered the real crime.

SOUND OFF EXTRA

LeBlanc's farewell impressed council watcher more than Mayor Thomas's

I was very impressed with the show of support for Richard LeBlanc at the last Westland council meeting. He has a proven record of speaking on behalf of the citizens and working behind the scenes in the best interest of the city of Westland.

His input will be greatly missed, especially with a new mayor and several other new faces coming on board. What a class act and how obvious where Richard's dedication lies, as compared to our former mayor, who didn't have the decency to stick around and speak to the very residents who will be footing the bill for his little fishing trips.

I go to a bar for food and drink, not to hear children cry and scream

I am not an alcoholic. One drink two times a month does not make me an alcoholic. But drunks who take their children to beer gardens - this must be stopped. Children of alcoholic parents tend to drink later in life like mom and dad did.

If Knockouts wants to be a bar or a restaurant, so be it. But let's leave the kids at home and take them to places like Red Robin or Denny's.

There is a time and a place for kids and it surely isn't at a bar. Children bothering people who came out for a quiet evening of food and a drink. Children running in the bar, crying and whining. The reason I went to the bar was for peace and quiet, not screaming crying children.

I guess now the only place adults can go to relax and have dinner and a drink is at the MGM Grand, as you must be 18 to enter.

Blackfoot cop comes home for mail, lunch, dinner, and brakes

Three times a day this officer uses a city police car to check his mail, eat lunch, and then dinner. Does this guy even patrol the area?

Wayne and Warren is a busy intersection, and I don't see any police presence there. He's too busy at home.

How many employees in the city of Westland do this with city vehicles and city gas?

We need to see police ticketing people for running red lights at Wayne and Warren.

Wayne Democrat says Cliff Johnson is not the party's father

I wish somebody would do something about Clifford Johnson of the Metro Wayne Democratic Club. He's not the father of the Democratic Party - a sperm donor, maybe.

He is not my father. I'm a proud, proud Democrat.

Caller says that victory doesn't always go to the best candidate

Sometimes like little children we don't do what we know is best. Such was the case in the Westland mayoral race. A city, run by a select few, that has a long history of not putting the people

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Student behavior at game appalls Memorial alumnus

To the editor:

I attended the basketball game between Wayne Memorial High School and John Glenn High School (JGHS), and as a voting, taxpaying citizen, I was appalled.

The behavior of the students surprised me but the lack of action taken by the administration of both schools and the superintendent of the school district shocked me. The students were allowed as a group to chant obscenities. A student from WMHS was making obscene gestures, which Mr. Chasten did attempt to stop. And the students from JGHS were so loud at half-time that the WMHS cheerleaders were unable to perform.

It appears to me that discipline and respect are not required from the students at our local high schools.

I realize that these basic manners should be taught at home but shouldn't they be reinforced at school and at school functions.

Are our teachers getting the respect and discipline in the classroom they need in order to give our students a good education? Is there backing by the administration to see the teachers are given their due respect?

I have heard that a "student friendly" policy has been adopted by our school district administration. The students do not need the adult role models in their lives to be their "friends," they need them to be the adult who tells them right from wrong and what is expected and required of them in society. I hope our school district has not adopted this policy just to get students through the system.

After the display I saw at that basketball game I am truly worried about our local society and wonder if voting in favor of future mileage's is the right thing to do under this administration.

Sincerely,
Ann Reynolds

Thief takes family heirloom

To the editor:

During the last Council Meeting at Westland City Hall, Monday, Dec. 17, someone helped themselves to a Christmas decoration off the Cashiers' counter in the lobby. This letter is to the person or persons who took the item.

I sincerely hope you really needed this to help make your Christmas a little more joyful. I really would hate to think you took it just as a prank.

The item did not have a lot of monetary value, just sentimental value and I will miss it. You see, all the Christmas decorations in the City Hall lobby belonged to individuals that work there. They were not city property or taxpayers property.

What you took originally belonged to my mother and I have had it for many years. Not valuable, but cherished. However, if it helped make your holidays a little better, so be it.

Please just think twice before you do it again. You were not hurting the bureaucracy or the government or the administration, just a city employee who is also a Westland resident.

Sincerely,
Johanna Hoffman

first no matter what is promised by candidates, is a city difficult to improve.

Let it be a reminder to all, the best people don't always win.

Caller doubts 'candidate who got elected is up for the task at hand'

A personal thank you to Richard LeBlanc for his years of service to the citizens of Westland. He gave of his time and effort to help make our city a better place. Those that have ever contacted him know he listens and cares.

I worked with Richard in the past, he would have been a great mayor and many voters agreed with that fact. Strong leadership was badly needed and I for one do not have faith the candidate who got elected is up for the task at hand.

If the citizens want nice they're gonna get more nice, like a nice big deficit. If the police and fire unions like promises, they're gonna get even more promises because I don't believe their future is going to improve with the financial future we are facing.

Westland voters truly had a chance to put someone in office to make the right, tough choices, so sad that so few turned out to vote, but even sadder that those who did will actually lose in the long run.

Speaker asked to only address the city council about Westland affairs

Please stop reading from local newspapers for your self-serving purposes. If you, in fact, address council, come prepared, be precise, and above all else, make sure your comments have something to do with Westland issues.

We are all aware of your situation with the police department, and your due process. However, this is a city council, not the supreme court. Therefore, allow me one of my rights, the right to freedom of choice.

I chose not to listen to your griping each council meeting about you.

PUBLIC HEARING

Please be advised, that the City of Romulus Planning Commission has scheduled a Public Hearing to be held Tuesday, January 23, 2002 at 7:00 p.m. Prevailing Eastern Time in the Romulus City Hall Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174-1485. Mega Red 0, Detroit Public Schools 3!

King cuts Belleville win streak at 5, hands Krogel his 1st loss

By TOM MOORADIAN-
MCN Staff Writer

The Detroit Public School League came out of its shoot-out with three of the top teams in the Mega Conference, Red Division, the winner.

Chalk up 3 for the PSL; 0 for the Mega-Red.

Detroit Finney, the No. 1 ranked team in the state this season, remained undefeated as it shot down Willow Run's Flyers, 57-48, while Detroit Martin Luther King cut previously undefeated Belleville's winning streak at 5, handing first-year coach Mike Krogel his first loss as the Tiger coach, 54-49. Wayne Memorial was no match for Detroit Murray-Wright. Coach Wayne Woodard's Zebras dropped a 74-38 decision.

All three games were played as part of the annual Detroit Public School Holiday Tip-Off Classic staged on Thursday in the Cobo Arena.

Despite the PSL sweep, it wasn't easy for the Detroiters.

Belleville made King sweat before handing over the victory. The Tigers led most of the game.

"I felt we played a good game against them," said Krogel later. "We were able to get over a 10-point mark, and had numerous opportunities down the stretch, unfortunately, we failed to capitalize on them. But, I would say that we matched up pretty well against them."

King led by three, 13-10, after the first period as Anthony Jones scored the first eight points of the battle - two of Jones's baskets were threes.

Belleville answered with its sharp-shooter James Holmes and its play-maker Jerriel Burrus to go up by four at half, 25-21, as Holmes and Burrus each tossed in five points to spark the surge. The Tigers managed to lead by three after three, 38-35, before King roared back behind Jones' 10 fourth-quarter points. King outscored their opponents, 18-11, in the final period to clinch their fifth victory in six starts. It was Belleville's first loss in six starts.

Holmes was the only Belleville player to hit in double figures. He scored 20, and also grabbed six rebounds. Burrus contributed six and Mike Hall also added six points. The Tigers also received a half-dozen rebounds from Alex Davenport who also chipped in five points.

Belleville managed to capitalize on 22 of 34 free throws. In comparison, King canned 14 of 22 freebies.

Krogel went into the battle without one of his key workhorses - Antoine Jordan, an All-Area football player, who had suffered an apparent broken collarbone during a skating outing. Jordan may be out of action for four to six weeks, according to the Tiger coach.

"Antoine is a team leader and the kids look up to him," said Krogel of

Salem loses '2' Islanders, Southgate

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Any dreams of using the Grosse Ile Holiday Basketball Tournament as a springboard to lift his team out of its doldrums didn't materialize for Plymouth-Salem Coach Bob Brodie as the Rocks lost back-to-back games of their holiday tournament on the island.

Southgate Anderson turned back Salem, the tournament's defending champ, 59-47, in the opening round of the holiday tournament, while Grosse Ile crushed the Rocks, 47-37, in the consolation game.

"We're not playing as a team," said Brodie afterward. "We're struggling at both ends of the court."

Brodie's comments reflected in the early stages of the game against the Islanders as the Rocks were outscored 19-5 in the first period. Brodie searched for the cause of his team's ailment and settled on slowing the tempo of the contest.

"I slowed down the pace of the game in the second period," Brodie went on to say. "If we had tried to continue to play at that pace, they would have really slaughtered us. Toss out that first quarter, and we made a game of it."

Thanks to Pat Abraham, who had 12 points for the evening, Salem came within 10 (27-17) of closing the gap. The Islanders held a 33-28 lead for three quarters. They never relinquished the lead.

One problem Salem had against the Islanders was its inability to stop or slow down Zack Everingham, who tossed in a game high 20 points.

Salem also fell behind early against host, Grosse Ile, and was forced to foul late in the game in hopes of gaining possession of the ball. The strategy failed as Everingham continued to slip past the Rocks' defense.

Salem put only one player in double figures against the Islanders. Abraham had 12 points.

In the opening round, Southgate led 14-11 after the first period and hung on as Abraham and Dave Hoskins rallied the Rocks in the second frame. Salem trailed by one point, 26-25 at half-time and managed to go up by four in the third period before 6-5 Anderson senior Tony Garofali, who scored on five treys, sparked a Southgate rally.

Southgate put Salem on ice when the Sabers came out shooting in the final eight minutes and outscored their rivals, 22-11.

Garofali finished the game with 22 points, the game's high. Salem countered with Abraham's 13 and Hoskins' 10 points.

Salem carries over a 2-4 record into the New Year as they await Northville, one of the pre-season favorites to dethrone defending champ Walled Lake Central, as the Western Lakes Conference kingpin.

"They're a talented team," said Brodie of their next opponent. "Right now, we're in turmoil, and we're struggling. We're going to have to turn it around if we want to have anything to say about who the next conference champ is."

Garland, Guess and "Green Glory"

By TOM MOORADIAN

The story is about the remarkable Tom Izzo and his incredible success as the head basketball coach at Michigan State University.

And the success story is called Green Glory. Although it is said that, "It's not easy being green," Izzo has brought that color to national, yes, even international prominence by winning an unprecedented four straight Big Ten Conference championships and a conference record of 115 games the past four seasons.

Izzo's phenomenal success has not only caught the attention of the world of basketball, but also of two outstanding authors - Jack Ebling and John Lewandowski who have charted Izzo's success in a book called Green Glory.

Green Glory brings to life the excitement and determination of a dedicated coach and staff who combine their various talents to shape MSU in a winner.

The book also features former Belleville basketball coach Mike Garland and Wayne Memorial star Lorenzo Guess.

Of Garland, Izzo notes that when he first took over the MSU program he knew he had to replace seven players.

"...But at least he can focus straight ahead. He knows Mike Garland has his back - and always will."

"That's why Izzo hired an assistant with no college coaching experience in 1996 and promoted him this season Experience is great. Trust is better. And there is no one Izzo trusts more in battle than his former back-court partner from Northern Michigan University..."

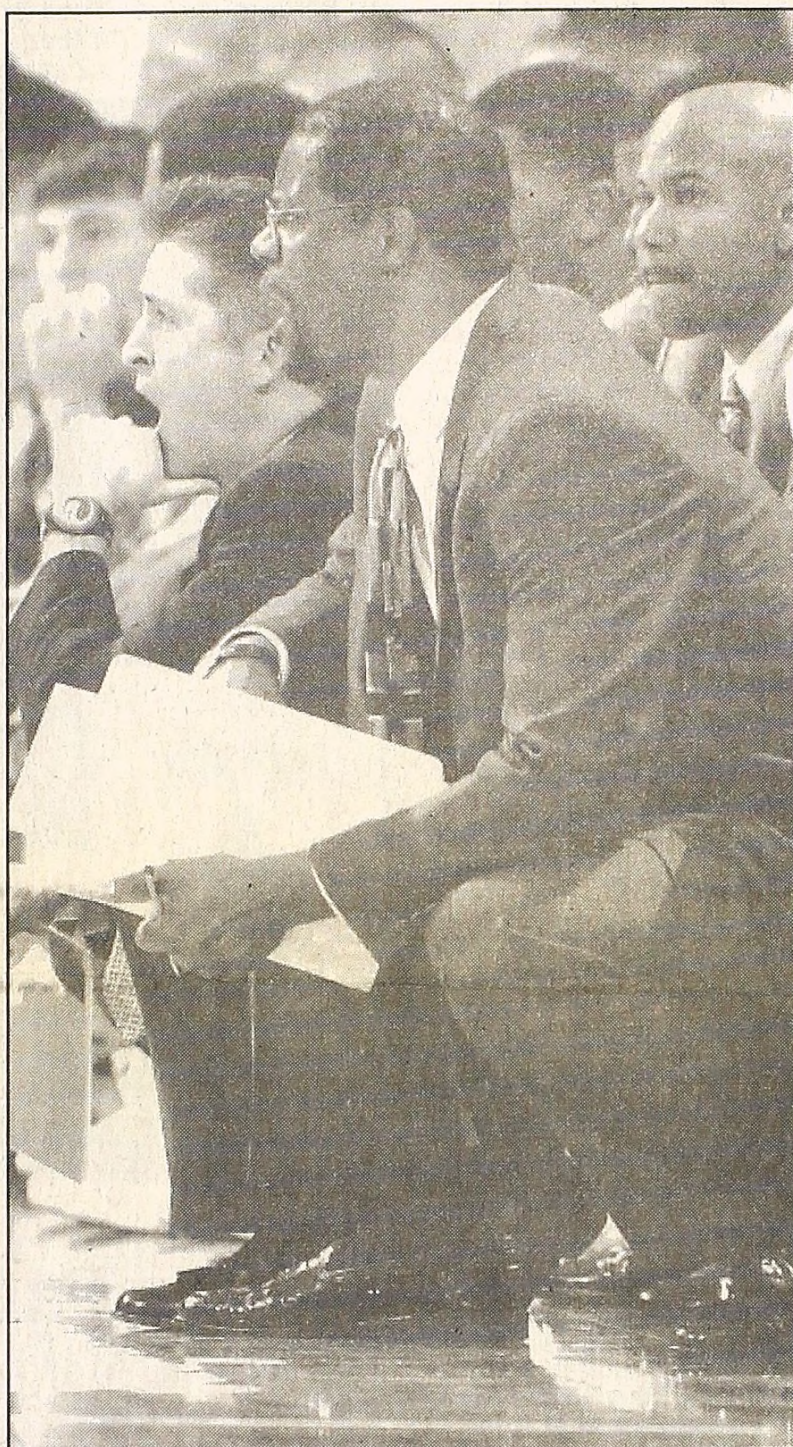

The book goes on about the great friendship between the two teammates, which has become a lifelong association.

"Izzo and Garland have been through it all in 28 years, from bench-clearing brawls to false alarms for fatherhood..."

Interesting reading, folks.

Of Guess, Coach Izzo notes that

Murray-Wright crushes Wayne

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Whether it was the awesome Cobo Arena or Detroit Murray-Wright that intimidated Wayne Memorial in the third and final game between teams representing the Mega Conference and the Detroit Public School League, Wayne was no match Thursday night for the League power's at Holiday Tip-Off Classic.

Coach Wayne Woodard's Zebras fell behind 20-5 in the first period, trailed by as much as 15 (35-20) at the half before suffering their worst setback of the 2001-2002 campaign.

"When you fall behind like we did against a team like Murray-Wright," said Coach Woodard, after the 74-38 shellacking by the Detroiters, "their basket looks like a canyon to them, while our's appears to be a tea cup. They (Murray-Wright) hit exceptionally well from the floor, especially from three-point range. Murray-Wright is an excellent ball club."

The loss left Wayne with a 2-3 record for the 2001 phase of the season; Murray-Wright improved its record to 5-1 on the season.

Murray-Wright proved deadly from three-point range as the Detroiters, led by the balanced scoring of Antonio Berry, Damon Friday, Kantrall Lewis and Johnny Martin, scored on 53 percent of their shots from the floor. Murray-Wright canned 46 percent of their attempted shots from three-point range.

In contrast, Wayne made 34 percent from three-point range - connecting on three of nine attempts.

Wayne led in the initial minutes of the game, 5-4, then Murray-Wright exploded. The Detroiters went on a 16-1 run and, for all purposes, it was all over after that first frame. Detroit coasted to the easy win.

Berry finished with a game-high 17 points, while Friday chipped in with 14. Lewis and Martin each contributed 10 points.

Wayne managed to place only one player in double figures. Jeff Logwood wound up with 12 points.

In order to return to the win column, Woodard says his team needs to play consistent ball.

"We don't have the consistency on the floor as we did against Romulus and John Glenn," said the sophomore Wayne coach. "We also need the seniors to provide the leadership they did in our early games. When they do, we are competitive; when they don't, we're in trouble."

Wayne will return to Mega-Red warfare on Tuesday (Jan. 8), when the Zebras entertain none other than Ypsilanti Willow Run. Although the pre-season title favorites have had their problems they are 3-2 after losing to top-ranked state power Detroit Finney, 57-48, in the Tip-Off Classic. Woodard says that Willow Run remains the team to beat in the conference.

"Willow Run and Belleville have proven they are the premier teams in the conference this year," Woodard said. "Nothing has changed my mind about that. Needless to say, our game with them (Willow Run) is a crucial one. We're 1-1 in the conference. Right now, we just can't afford to lose to the front-runners at this point."

Canton falls to New Haven, 69-54

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It wasn't the way Coach Jeremy Rheault and the Plymouth-Canton Chiefs wanted to wrap up the 2001 phase of the season, but New Haven decided to continue its holiday merriment at the expense of Canton thanks to an impressive 69-54 victory over Canton at the Motor City Roundball Classic.

The holiday tournament was staged at the University of Detroit High School gym.

"I felt we played a solid game, especially on defense in the first half, but we didn't do much in the last two quarters," said Rheault, after the Chiefs' third loss that left the Chiefs with a .500 (3-3) record for the 2001 phase of the season.

Trailing the first two quarters, 18-11 and 31-26, the Chiefs came within one point of eliminating the deficit on Kyle Lasko's short jumper. They never got the go-ahead basket as New Haven's Eric Fowler, the game's leading scorer, came back and sank a three-pointer to pull his team out of its momentary spin.

New Haven increased its lead to 51-40 before outscoring their opponents, 18-14, in the final quarter.

Coach Rheault, in his second year as Canton's head coach, pointed to the rebounding stats as one of the reasons why his team walked off the floor losers.

"They out-rebounded us 45-26," he said. "If we missed, the ball wound up in their hands. We had no second shots, and that usually hurts."

Two players accounted for more than half of the Chiefs' points. Andrew Meagrow drilled a team high 18, while Kyle Lasko finished with 15.

Fowler scored a game high 25 points.

See CANTON, page A-9

Pointing the way, Mike Garland (center) has a few moves of his own that he displays during one of Michigan State University's games. Garland joined Coach Tom Izzo's coaching staff in 1996 after leading the Belleville Tigers to glory in the early 1990 which included three Mega-Conference, Red Division championships.

Preps resume hoop action on Tuesday.

Is that all there is... Some local high school teams will know early in January what their chances are of winning a conference title. They're faced with tests that could decide whether they stand a chance to finish atop of the pile.

Yes, the holidays are over. The New Year has begun. Let the shooting resume.

Belleville will have a jump on most of the area teams as first-year Coach Mike Krogel takes his Tigers up against South Lyon in the only Friday night game involving a local team. The Tigers will be attempting to bounce back from their first loss of the season at the expense of visiting South Lyon. The Tigers will be attempting to bounce back from their first loss of the season at the expense of visiting South Lyon. The Tigers will be attempting to bounce back from their first loss of the season at the expense of visiting South Lyon.

In the meantime, Coach Guy DelGiudice and the Romulus Eagles will get their first big test in the Mega-Red as they travel to Monroe Tuesday night in a game that could tell the veteran Romulus coach just how good his ball club is.

Hit by injuries and ineligibility to starters, Romulus has struggled during the 2001 phase of the season.

"Monroe will be a good test for these kids," said DelGiudice, who is hoping to have injured senior guard Anson Long ready to go.

Romulus jolted the Mega-Red Division before the Christmas break when it upset Willow Run, a pre-season title favorite, 71-59, behind sophomore forward Ron Coleman's 26 points.

After a rollercoast beginning, Westland John Glenn will also seek to steady its shaky start on the hardwood. Coach Joel Lloyd's Rockets have been erratic in the early stages. After crushing Adrian, 72-47, Glenn looked horrendous in swallowing a 56-48 loss to Willow Run.

On Tuesday, Glenn will host Livonia Franklin in a Western Lakes Conference and then on Friday they'll travel to Farmington Hills Harrison.

The Westlanders can't afford a loss to either team if they plan to stay in the chase for the conference title.

Plymouth-Canton and Plymouth-Salem hope that they have nowhere to go but up after hitting bottom in separate holiday tournaments.

Salem dropped a pair of games at the Grosse Isle Tournament where they could have, should have, but didn't, turn the tide.

Southgate Anderson and Grosse Isle handed the Rocks back-to-back tournament-game setbacks and coach Bob Brodie figures the losses may shake up his struggling team and players. "They are not a team right now," he says of his ball club. It will not be easy goings for the Rocks as Salem faces Northville on Tuesday for their first test of 2002. Northville has its act together.

But Canton doesn't, not yet anyway.

The Chiefs are looking to improve. They'll be on the hardwood Tuesday to take on defending Western Lakes Conference champ Walled Lake Central. Then, on Friday, Jan. 11, the Spartans of Livonia Stevenson invade Canton's gym. If they're at full strength, these two games should go into the Chiefs' winning column.

Inkster will launch the New Year on Tuesday against traditional rival Highland Park. Then the Vikings head cross-town to Robichaud for what could be a barnburner. Robichaud won four straight before losing to Dearborn, while the Vikings are still looking for a conference victory.

ly remarkable," Ebling said. "Any Spartan fan will want to relive the story and share in the glory of their continuing accomplishments."

With a foreword by Izzo, "Green Glory" includes a detailed look at how the program was built, profiles of every player and coach on the last three teams, game-by-game accounts and a view of Spartans' basketball future, with compelling photographs of MSU's rise to college supremacy.

Wayne Wolves seek baseball players.

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

In the middle of winter there are some coaches and managers who are dreaming of and planning for the 2002 baseball season.

The Wayne Wolves managerial staff this week announced that they are seeking ball players for their travel teams.

Players should be 16 and under and will be invited to participate in an indoor tryout. Dates for the tryout have not been set.

Coaches also pointed out that the team will travel to out-of-state tournaments. The Wolves have been invited to play in the Wheeling, West Virginia, this

Also hurting the Chiefs was the absence of two of their players from the lineup. Players Brendan Murphy, a 6-2, senior forward, and 5-8 senior guard, Nick Houdek, missed the game. Houdek was in Florida with his family, while Murphy was ruled ineligible for one game after an altercation on the floor in the previous game.

Both are expected back in the lineup when Canton clashes with Walled Lake Central, the defending, but hurting, Western Lakes Conference champs.

his missing star. "We had to make some adjustments to our lineup. All in all I am satisfied with the way we played."

Kroger said that he didn't believe the Cobo Arena intimidated his players. "It's not like if you're playing in our gym. Obviously, Cobo is much bigger and when you're looking at the basket, you see seats and not a wall, so you have to make adjustments and focus before you take a shot. But I don't think the arena had anything to do with our playing ability."

Before they resume the conference phase of the season, Belleville will get a tune-up. They'll play out-of-conference opponent South Lyon on Friday, Jan. 11, for their first game of the year 2002.

Then, on Jan 11, they host Monroe, a team that they shared the Mega-Red championship with a year ago.

"Central lost players to graduation and is having their problems this season," Rheault said. "But, again, no one expected them to runaway with the title a year ago, and they did. It should be an interesting match up for us."

Rheault says he still believes that North Farmington, Plymouth-Salem, North Farmington and Western will be title contenders in the conference.

"This year, the talent is spread around, and anything can happen," Rheault predicted.

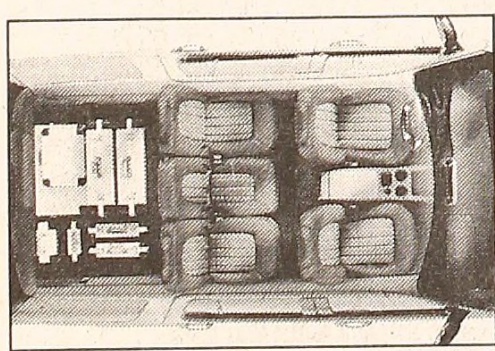

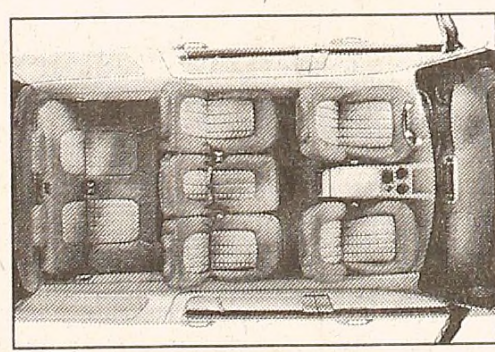

As for Canton?

"Never count us out. That would be a serious mistaken," the Canton coach added.
